

REPORT BALLOONS ALL SAFE

Capt. Baldwin Relates Hard Fight With Adverse Winds

NO RECORDS BROKEN

And Aero Club is Disappointed at the Farical Ending of the Race.

New York, Sept. 20.—Apparently unmindful of the fact that the entire country was alarmed for the safety of his balloon, the New York, which has not been reported since it started in the championship race at Indianapolis Saturday, Captain Thomas Baldwin, the aid of pilot Clifford B. Harwood, appeared at the Aero club of America rooms today and reported that the New York landed near Portsmouth, O., at 5 o'clock Sunday evening.

"I supposed of course that every one knew about our having landed," Baldwin said in explaining his silence. "Although we were not in the air very long, we had a hard time of it and for 14 hours we had the hardest fight with adverse winds that I ever experienced."

With the reporting of the New York, the thirteen balloons that started Saturday, four in the free-for-all event and nine in the championship race, are safe. Miss Sophia A. St. Louis entry, Captain Baldwin thinks, landed some time Sunday.

"I don't think it possible for a balloon of her capacity to have remained in the air for more than 24 hours," he said. "Pilot Assmann was probably forced to land in some out-of-the-way place which accounts for no word from her."

"We ran into hot sunshine, cold winds, thunder, lightning and rain in rapid succession," said Captain Baldwin. "It kept us guessing to manage the ballast under these conditions and when we landed we had only a few pounds of ballast left. Our gas was also badly depleted by the constant changes in temperature."

"Saturday night we were soaked by a hard, cold rain. Sunday morning the sun shone brightly, our gas expanded and we rose rapidly to a height of 5,000 feet. At noon Sunday we struck the worst thunderstorm I have ever encountered in the upper air and to avert danger we soared to a height of three and a half miles. It was a magnificent spectacle to ride above the storm at such a great height but we were in no mood to enjoy the sensation."

"All the afternoon we sailed in the upper air currents constantly throwing out ballast. By 4 o'clock we were about out of ballast and had to begin looking for a place to land. We found a good spot on a hillside near Portsmouth."

Officials of the club are keenly disappointed at the almost farical ending of the race, as neither the records for endurance nor distance were approached. It was the hope of the officials that three balloons could be found which might prove serious contenders in the international race which starts in St. Louis October 17, but the records of Saturday's starters are not such as to give much hope for success in this event.

It is admitted however that the balloons encountered unusually rough weather and when final reports are received from all the pilots it may turn out that the performance of the balloons was far more creditable than the time aloft indicates.

AERONAUTS BRUISED.
Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—Aeronauts Graham and Atherholt, who manned the Pennsylvania II, in the race from Indianapolis, returned here today bruised and battered as a result of their flight with a storm. Their balloon descended 24,000 feet with such force that it bounded into the air 100 feet when it struck the ground near Dexter, O., Sunday.

COMMITTEE
Investigating the Lorimer Bribery Charges Held First Meeting in Chicago Today.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—The senate sub-committee which will investigate the Lorimer bribery charges had the first meeting here today. Most of the members were present. Senator Lorimer walked around the hotel where they are meeting without seeing any of the committee and the expressed confidence in the outcome.

Today's meeting was executive, but the remainder of the meetings will probably be made public.

NEW B. & O. EQUIPMENT.
Baltimore, Md., Sept. 20.—The B. & O. will order 75 all-steel passenger cars, costing $2,250,000, in the near future.

PRESIDENT WOULD NOT BE BLUFFED BY "TEDDY" AT MONDAY'S CONFERENCE

On Board the President's Train, Columbus, Sept. 20.—Congratulations are pouring in from all over the country on President Taft today because of his stand at yesterday's conference with Roosevelt. It is regarded by Taft's friends generally as proof that Taft is a real party leader. They look at it this way: Roosevelt confessed to the weakness of his cause when he appealed to Taft for aid. Taft exhibited his firmness of purpose by refusing to mix in state politics at Roosevelt's request, and Taft's stand was a dignified reply to Roosevelt's attempts to smoke him out.

CHANLER WAS NOT A "PIKER"

New York, Sept. 20.—Whatever else he may have been, the friends of Robert W. Chanler, husband of Lina Cavalleri, are satisfied that he was not a "piker" in his wooing of the business-like enchantress. For proof they point to items in the bills of various creditors who are suing "Sheriff Bob," among which are a $24 pair of trousers, 12 white waistcoats, and a little lunch at Martin's that came to $8.15. The lunch bill isn't considered excessive, as it included everything from cocktails to raw apples, nor are the 12 waistcoats thought to be too many for a well-groomed wooer of operatic stars. But every one on Broadway is agreed that $24 ought to buy a dream of a pair of pants and there is general regret that Chanler didn't leave the price tag on when he wore his "creation."

The lunch bill has just "come out" on Chanler. Martin says it was for a little "bite" that Chanler and Cavalleri had at his establishment last November.

CRIPPEN'S EFFECTS SOLD AT AUCTION

London, Sept. 30.—Morbidity on the part of the public brought a nice little sum of money at the auction of Dr. Crippen's effects here today. Worthless trifles sold for a dollar or two because people wanted something that had belonged to Crippen. A number of fashionable women bought small curios.

One western senator, noted for his political sagacity, wired Taft today that it was the most important political victory for the president for some time past.

IS ROOSEVELT SULKING?
New York, Sept. 20.—Col. Roosevelt had nothing to say except that there would be no compromise in the New York state fight today. He refused to see newspaper men and issued no statement regarding yesterday's conference with President Taft. The air around the Outlook offices seemed to indicate "clouds with possible storms."

WILL POLL LARGE VOTE

Minneapolis, Sept. 20.—Ideal weather and a warm campaign has served to boom public interest in the state primaries being held today and both parties will poll a large per cent of their voting strength.

Early indications seem to show that if Congressman Tawney, a Caution stand-water is not defeated, he will win by an extremely close margin. All the other fights are very close.

LILLIAN WILL SET THE PACE

Chicago, Sept. 20.—There was a little flutter about the Palmer House today among some 250 dressmakers here to decide what should and what should not be worn during the coming season, when it was announced that Lillian Russell would give a demonstration late today of "what an actress owes to her dressmaker." Fair Lillian, long the wonder of the stage-goers is expected to give away one or two secrets of her perpetual youth. Clothes have something to do with it, Miss Russell says, but not all.

"I intend to appear before the dressmakers in my street costume, which I will take off," said Miss Russell. "Then I will dress myself a piece at a time in the stunning gown, so that the dressmakers may readily see that much of the success I have attained on the stage is really due to their handiwork. Clothes have much to do with making an actress."

PRESIDENT TAFT RETURNS TO CINCINNATI BEFORE GOING TO CAPITAL

Cincinnati, Sept. 20.—President Taft's home city plans to welcome him in splendid style when he arrives here today. He will remain here for several days and arrangements are being made for a reception to him at the Ohio Valley Exposition, which was opened when Colonel Roosevelt was here. From Cincinnati the president will go to Washington for a meeting of his cabinet on Sept. 26. On Oct. 2 he will go to New York, where he will address the National Republican League. After his speech in New York he will return to Beverly, to remain until Oct. 15.

Several more men dressmakers were flitting about the corridors of the hotel this morning, hoping to find some secret passage leading to the rooms where Lillian is to demonstrate and capture, but their case seemed hopeless. They are ruled out. Models were shown today in gowns that will be the height of the dressmaker's art. The hobbie skirt will be hobbled higher up this season, but the short skirt is here to stay. The gowns that looked as though the wearer had been poured into them have been ruled out. The dressmakers say this is because of the difficulty of pouring just right.

THE ABBE TAKES HIS TENTH RACE AT COLUMBUS

CAPTURES HOTEL HARTMAN STAKE THE FIRST DAY OF GRAND CIRCUIT.

Evelyn W. Does Some Fine Contending, But is Finally Beaten.
Good Card Today.

Columbus, Sept. 20.—The Hotel Hartman, pacing stake honors, the highest obtainable at the first day of the Columbus Grand Circuit races, went in toto to The Abbe from Buffalo. The victory makes it 10 in a row this year for The Abbe's brother, that four years ago was a 3-year-old trotting champion. Ess H. Kay, The General and Independence Boy were the other winners.

Merry Widow drew nearly as much out of the Board of Trade award as the victor, Ess H. Kay. A break in the second heat ruined her chance of outdoing the black horse, who jumped up himself in the final mile and trailed home in the rear. The two paced all the way in the opening mile, but on the day on the course and Ess H. Kay kept in the clear.

General H. good trotter, had but little opposition in the 2-10 trot or the first-class race of the program. He joined the ranks of winning favorites, formed by The Abbe and Ess H. Kay, and didn't go near his speed limit, either.

With a finish between the Geers Hotel Hartman caper and Evelyn W. having the real fun of the afternoon was cooked up by the 2-11 pacer. Nine came out. Something was known of the ability of each but it was a toss-up whether Independences Boy or Dickie C. would win. Charles Valentine breezed through with the pace. A real bold driver, Dickie C. might have made the competition keener, but it was a rather scramble anyhow.

Evelyn W. owed in Cleveland made the race amount to a gray ball. She was the only pacer in training that has taken a near a day from The Abbe this year. In the middle of the flight yesterday she came close to capturing another V. Geers admitted the danger when he went to The Abbe with the win.

To Ess H. Kay was awarded $14,000 to Merry Widow $9,000, to Dickie C. $8,000 and to Baron Wales $4,000. A $10,000 fifth starter won a first night away, for the flag fell with her outside.

The Abbe's share of the Hotel Hartman stake was $2,000. Evelyn W. captured a $1,000 stake each as follows: Evelyn W. $1,000, Brampton, Brampton $800, M. J. Day $200, Col. Ernest and Ray Pacer $100 each. Sister Pacer was unfortunate, by getting a bad break.

WOMAN
Dragged From Home and Beaten to Death and Eleven Men Are Held on Suspicion.

New London, Sept. 20.—Eleven men are held in jail here today on suspicion of complicity in the murder of an Austrian woman who was breathed to death near the Big Four railroad tracks on the outskirts of the village.

The prisoners are railroad laborers. The woman's husband is one of them. The body was found last night by four boys, who reported it to the marshal. He found three large holes in the skull and several broken bones. The body was badly mutilated. The marshal says the woman had been dragged from her home, where she lived with her husband and ten boarders.

SHAKEUP IN POLICE FORCE

New York, Sept. 20.—A new police commissioner and a general shakedown in the force is predicted today as a result of the gambling graft investigation. Acting Mayor Mitchell saw Mayor Gaynor at the latter's home last night and talked over the graft revelation.

Police Commissioner Baker will probably be let out after the grand jury investigation. The statement of an old gambler, made just before he died, that he had never known a gambling place to open or stay open three days without paying tribute to the police, is being used as a lever to extract information against men higher up in the department.

EMPLOYEES

Of Cotton Mills Threaten to Call a Strike Which Would Shut Down 700 Mills.

Manchester, Eng., Sept. 20.—Cotton mill employees today announced that if they are not paid a 10 per cent increase by Oct. 1 they will retaliate by calling a general strike throughout England and shut down 700 cotton mills. With the allied industries affected this would throw 25,000 workers out of employment.

The number of the men would probably be 100,000 and the strike force in government of it extensive.

SUITS ARE FILED FOR DAMAGES

Based On Riots During Columbus Strike and
More Are to Follow

ALL ARE FOR INJURIES

Would Hold County and Present
Suits Aggregate Twenty Thousand Dollars.

Columbus, Sept. 20.—Franklin county was sued yesterday in common pleas court for more than $20,000 damages for injuries growing out of the street car riots. The suits are said to be the forerunners of yet more, which are to be brought under a section of the general code, which makes the county liable for mob violence in a sum not less than $500 nor more than $5,000.

There are 24 suits and judgment in each is asked for either $500 or $1,000, according to the nature of the injuries. All but three of the plaintiffs are men who were employed by the Rail-Light Company. Two were passengers on cars that were made objects of assault, and a third was a chauffeur in the employ of the Rail-Light Company.

The suits were filed by R. R. Patterson, a Cleveland attorney, said to be connected with the Coach Detective Agency, and the employment bureau which supplied men to operate cars. Save for details of injuries, the petitions are identical.

All say that there had been rioting in the neighborhood of the places where the injuries were received, and set forth that Mayor Marshall had proclaimed that a state of riot existed. All contained a sentence which reads, "Plaintiff suffered a lynch at the hands of the mob, unlawfully assembled for an unlawful purpose."

Attorneys are agreed that all those injured in the car riots have rights of action against the county. In the suits filed yesterday the county commissioners are named as the defendants.

Nearly all the injuries complained of were received in the so-called "trouble zones," which centered in West Broad street and Leonard avenue.

The plaintiffs and the amounts of the suits are: Nancy James Rei, passenger, $500; Samuel Caplan, passenger, $1,000; Ralph C. Hoover chauffeur, $500; J. O. Wilcox, conductor, $1,000; John M. Bowers, conductor, $1,000; John MacElwee, motorman, $1,000; Carl Neuman, motorman, $500; J. C. Davis, conductor, $500; Daryus Hughes, conductor, $1,000; Wm. Vacha, conductor, $1,000; J. B. Hawkins, conductor, $500; Wm. Curran, conductor, $500; A. L. Washburn, motorman, $1,000; B. M. McGe, motorman, $1,000; Charles Madden, motorman, $1,000; Paul Bersch, conductor, $1,000; J. J. Larrick, motorman, $500; Ernest Kester, conductor, $1,000; Jacob B. Hoekster, motorman, $1,000; Arthur Held, conductor, $1,000; Floyd F. Beecher, Rail-Light guard, $1,000; John H. Gardiner, foreman West Broad street barn, $500; Alexander Weiskop, motorman, $1,000; Fred Hiller, $500.

H. J. Booth, attorney for the Rail-Light Company, said yesterday he did not know R. R. Patterson of Cleveland, who brought the suits.

Franklin county probably will require almost all those who sue to put up security to cover the costs, since practically all are not citizens of the county.

AVIATORS

Brieg, Switzerland, Sept. 20.—Undaunted by yesterday's failure, Charles Weiman and George Chavez, the aviators, are waiting for favorable weather to attempt to fly over the Simpson Pass to Milan, Italy. Authorities would not permit a start today because of the high wind.

CHEERING NEWS FOR FLAT DWELLERS

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Living in flats drives people insane, according to D. Podstata, of the insane institute here. He says the cramped existence in flats creates a nervous insanity unknown a few years ago. The demand for mental activity to the most complete exclusion of physical labor produces a lack of balance, he says. He also suggests the marriage laws be amended so that degenerated, drunkards, and those suffering from blood diseases cannot marry.

TROTT AND SCHULTZ

FIGHT TO DRAW.

Springfield, Sept. 14.—Five twenty-round sparring exhibition between Sammy Trott of Columbus and Johnny Schultz of Toledo was declared a draw by Referee Harry Davidson last night at the end of the final session.

The bout was clever and exciting from start to finish. Both boys delivered the goods; they proved themselves so evenly matched that there seemed to be no chance. It either had an advantage it was Schultz in the twelfth, for a few seconds ahead Trott's head reeling, but the latter finished the round strong and came back in the next one as fresh as ever.

HEART and HOME TALKS by Barbara Boyd

Little Problems of The Home.

Should a Husband Help His Wife's Family Financially?

A woman writes that she has an invalid sister really in need of financial help; that she, the writer, doesn't wish to ask her husband for money for the sister, and so she writes to know if there isn't something she can do herself to earn a little money for the sister's assistance.

How many a woman has been placed in just such a delicate position. Her own family are in need of money, yet she does not like to ask her husband for it. She does not feel that it is altogether fair to him to ask him to contribute to their support. Yet her heart just aches to help them, and her hands long to get busy in their behalf.

What shall she do? If there is that perfect love and sympathetic understanding between husband and wife that there should be, she will not mind going to him with this trouble and asking his help and advice. But as the song says, "Things are seldom as they ought to be," and many a wife views apprehensively the idea of approaching her husband for money for her own family.

The matter, however, should be looked at fairly. If it were his family that was in need, the husband would not waste a minute's time in aiding them, considering that he was giving of his own money. Marriage is a partnership, and the funds belong as much to the wife as to the husband, though, unfortunately, this view is not always taken. What he gives, therefore, to his own family, he is really giving from her share of the income, as much as from his own. If, now, it is her family that needs instead of his own, he should view the matter in the same way.

If there is plenty of means there should be no question of a man's helping his wife's family, if the need arise. But if it involves some sacrifice on his part, many a man feels he is not called upon to do it.

To some extent, whether he should help or not, depends upon the nature of the need. If her people are in dire distress, he surely should help, no matter what sacrifice is involved. He would readily and quickly assist any fellow mortal in great need. How much more should he those attached to him by the dearest tie on earth, marriage!

But if it is a case of their lying down on him, as it were, because he is easy, he is in no wise called upon to sacrifice for them. Indeed, it is kindness to assist such people. It only makes them the more dependent.

If, however, it is a matter where temporary help will be of great assistance, such as sending a brother-in-law through college, or helping a sister-in-law to some special course of instruction, or giving the father-in-law a lift over some critical business situation, let it be done in a business-like way, as a loan. The boy or girl will be the better for feeling that when the returns come from their studies, they must pay back the one who helped them.

But if it is a case of simply making sacrifices without any hope whatever of a return, as in the case of an invalid, or an aged father-in-law or mother-in-law, it is a matter then of simply being unselfish, of shouldering the added burden and trudging on cheerfully with it. It is a case of playing the man. And any man who is a man and who loves his wife will do it. It may seem hard, and no doubt it is hard. But somehow or other, when one does a thing for love, no matter what sacrifice it may entail, it sweetens life. Subtly, intangibly, but none the less truly, life becomes the richer and happier for it.

THE Y. M. C. A. AND CITIZENSHIP

The management of the Young Men's Christian Association should have the hearty co-operation of every business interest in its endeavor to fully meet the needs of the boys and young men of Newark. The plans announced provide for the office and social rooms for men on the street floor, separate rooms for a night school and the boys' department, and a general widening of the scope of the Association activities.

In the past five years over $50,000, 000 have been invested by the business men of this country in Association equipment. This investment has been made because the up-to-date Association makes returns in character and citizenship which qualities put at the lowest estimate are worth money to any community.

Newark needs the influence of a well organized, well financed Y. M. C. A. It is unfair to expect results unless the organization is supported. Our boys and young men are second to none in the world.

The fund of $11,000 asked by the management to effect the changes and finance the organization for two years should be given without hesitation. The appeal is an unselfish one from men who give their own time as well as money for the uplift of our city. Their effort should be encouraged by immediate, generous and spontaneous giving on the part of rich and poor alike.

The keen prediction of Judge Alton B. Parker that Theodore Roosevelt, after having caused as much turmoil in his party as possible, would succumb at last and fall into the support of Taft's administration approaches its verification. Roosevelt's visit to Taft at New Haven indicates plainly that he is seeking conciliation with the President. Developments soon to come will show Teddy's role to be ridiculous. Republican insurgents are manifesting no confidence in his erratic leadership. The farcical Teddy will be seen in his true light in due time.

THAT SMALL CROWD AT REP. OPENING

Saturday's Marion Mirror contains the following, which would indicate that Marion Republicans are not over-enthusiastic over their candidate for governor:

"Baker's band headed a delegation of about a dozen faithful Republicans who marched from the court house esplanade, shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday morning, to the union station to board the train for Kenton to attend the Republican campaign opening. At the union station, the dozen were joined by a few more of the faithful sort, and when the train pulled out for the Hardin county metropolis, there were about one hundred persons aboard from Marion City and county bound for Kenton."

"Several automobiles left Marion for Kenton about 9 o'clock, and these took part in the parade, which was given before the speech-making began. Some of the autosts were on their way to the Lewiston reservoir on a fishing excursion and the trip was made by way of Kenton to take in the opening during the heat of the day when it is well known that the fish will not bite."

"It was expected a large delegation from Marion city and county would attend the opening and the smallness of the crowd was quite a surprise, so much so that comment was freely made after the faithful had departed."

A writer in the New York World suggests that events have developed a new meaning to what G. O. P. has stood for all these years. It is now the GOING OUT PARTY.

Secretary Knox, it is announced, returned from Maine with nothing to say. He doubtless concludes that the voters of the State said it all.

Kenton is not a very large city, only having 6,500 population in 1900, but it was amply large enough to house all the Republicans who attended the state campaign opening in that town on Saturday.

ON BACK.

"Let us only go on," said Mr. Harding in his speech at Kenton. Yes on a platform that goes backward. Go on, Mr. Harding, away back.

A good sample of those aristocrats who have been brought into power by the Republican party is Senator Keen of New Jersey. When asked to submit his name to the voters at the recent Senatorial primary, he said: "The voters! Why should they presume to pass on my qualification for re-election to the United States Senate?"

The whole country fairly seethes with political unrest. It is a time of upheaval. The masses have endured this Republican machine-boss-stand-at-rule until they are getting absolutely weary of the burden. They are tired of the policy which breeds millionaires at the expense of the millions. The wide spread Republican insurgency is evidence of the unrest and the prospective upheaval at the coming November elections. The time is ripe for reform.

GOV. HARMON'S POSITION IN COLUMBUS STREET CAR STRIKE

In their great anxiety to make political capital out of the street car strike at Columbus, the Republican bosses are overlooking a few facts of political consequence. They are working desperately to prejudice the laboring men of Ohio against Governor Harmon, who performed his sworn duty under the laws of the state without fear or favor and with absolute fairness to both sides.

Governor Harmon did not call out the troops to shoot down the strikers nor coerce the company, but to suppress rioting, disorder and mob violence. He even went beyond his official authority by endeavoring in an open and honorable way to bring about a satisfactory settlement.

Therefore, when Republican newspapers boldly announced that every labor organization in the state will work against Harmon's re-election, the political motive was so poorly concealed as to betray itself.

It is not a new thing for scheming Republican politicians to become very fond of labor organizations just before an election—and then forget all about them, after election day until the next campaign.

If the scheming Republican politicians and their newspapers insist on dragging the Columbus strike into politics, with manifest desire to prejudice the labor vote against Governor Harmon because he is a candidate for re-election, it behooves the fair minded voter to look on both sides.

The Mayor of Columbus who put policemen on the cars and called upon the Governor for troops after disorderly conditions got beyond his control, is a Republican.

The Sheriff of Franklin county, who swore in imported detectives employed by the street car company, thereby giving them the power and authority of deputy sheriffs, among others deputized by him, is a Republican.

The Common Pleas Judge, who issued an injunction against the strikers to suppress their activities during the week of the State Fair, is a Republican.

The Police Judge, who decided that strike-breakers put on cars by the company had a right to carry firearms on the cars, is a Republican.

The Chief of Police, whose aides accused strikers of doing the dynamiting put several strikers under arrest on that charge, is a Republican.

And, finally, W. F. Hoffman, one of the signers of a series of resolutions unfriendly to the strikers, is not only a Republican but is also treasurer of the committee that is managing the campaign for Mr. Harding and the Republican state ticket.

When the intelligent voters among the labor organizations of Ohio seriously consider all these facts they will not thank the Republican bosses who have so openly and so boldly tried to make dupes of them in this campaign.

For the well posted and intelligent workingman will remember that when Judson Harmon was receiver of the C. H. and D. and Pere Marquette Railroad systems he had jurisdiction over the employment of 18,000 organized railroad men for two years and over 5,000 of the same men two years longer, during all of which time he had not the slightest difficulty nor disagreement with them, for all of his dealings with the men were through their regularly constituted committees—and he never cut wages nor missed a pay day. Actions like these speak louder than the poisoned words of Republican politicians and their partisan newspapers.

HAMPTON'S MAGAZINE ON COLLAPSE OF THE TAFT ADMINISTRATION

"The Collapse of the Taft Administration" is the title of a highly interesting article in Hampton's Magazine for October by Judson C. Welliver, the author of "Is Roosevelt Invincible?", "The Story of Sugar" and other current literature. In discussing the subject, Mr. Welliver also writes of the plans to build a new Taft machine to secure his re-election two years hence.

"With insurgency fast building itself into control of the Republican party and with Democracy in good prospect of carrying the next House of Representatives," writes Mr. Welliver, "the administration of William Howard Taft confronts a crisis. Two years ago Mr. Taft became leader of a party which held almost a monopoly of public confidence. Today he is leader merely of a discredited faction. Control of the party is fast passing out of the hands of this faction into the hands of men whom Mr. Taft's administration has but recently read out of the party. The record of the Taft administration is a pathetic story of failures in both politics and statesmanship."

These observations, it will be noted, are not taken from a Democratic newspaper which might be expected to be hostile to the administration—but are published in a strong, national magazine—Hampton's.

The writer goes on to say that in consequence of Mr. Taft's failure, there is a struggle for control of the Republican party.

"The Republican party is either going to pieces or going to be reorganized," says Mr. Welliver. "If it goes to pieces there will be a new party with a new name. If it is reorganized it will be a new party in nearly everything except name, getting a new viewpoint and purpose. The Republican party is in the way of repudiation, partly because it is in the hands of bad leaders, and partly it is composed too largely of 'best citizens.' The Republican party has been too much concerned about property and too little about humanity. Its statesmanship has been of the adding-machine kind. If a man with a bit of statesmanly imagination broke in and contributed an idea or two, somebody like Nelson W. Aldrich was sure to bit him over the head with a steel billet (controlled by a trust, highly protected) or put him to sleep with a goodly dose of some standard protection narcotic (sugar coated)."

"Mr. Taft came to the presidency with an almost unprecedented fund of public confidence and good will. How completely, in a short year and a half, have all these judgments been reversed! Today the tone of hopeful trust is wanting. People who a year ago were sure 'Taft meant well' now ask: 'Do you think he intended all along to betray the progressive policies, or was he just so weak that he couldn't help himself?' A great schism has arisen within the Republican party and he is leading a faction, not a party. Recent political happenings in every part of the country evidence a desire to repudiate the present leadership of the party.

EVERYBODY BUSY.

T. R. has drafted a platform which he hopes the New York State Republicans will adopt.—News Item.

"From the hour of his election Mr. Taft demonstrated a perfect genius for doing the wrong thing and leaving undone the right thing; for giving his confidence to men whom the country did not trust and denying it to men whom the country did trust; for throwing over those time-tried friends who had supported him for nomination and for election, and suddenly scrapping up intimacies with men long opposed to him. Sooner or later he made the fatal mistake of trying to placate his enemies at the cost of ignoring and forgetting his friends."

Hampton's article goes then into the first misgivings about Mr. Taft's progressiveness when he announced his cabinet; then his support of Cannon and Aldrich, and refers to his peculiar position during the consideration of the tariff bill, which later, in his Winona speech, he highly praised as the "best tariff bill ever passed."

The Hampton article deals in an interesting way with the celebrated Ballinger case and with the change in the president's attitude of "hands off" while congress was talking tariff to the position of dictator in consideration of the railway, Alaska and conservation bills. "The country knows now that the law (railroad bill) is in fact the first great achievement of insurgency."

Mr. Welliver then takes up the course of events in Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, Indiana, California and Ohio and draws some apt conclusions. It is unfortunate that the article was printed before the recent Maine election, as the complete defeat of the Republican party in the Pine Tree State would give him material for many interesting sentences. Referring to the Ohio situation, Hampton's writer says:

"What did happen (in Ohio) was entirely satisfactory to Taft, Dick and Cox. Harding a 'regular' standard, was named for governor, the national administration was lauded, the tariff bill was praised and Taft was formally presented as a candidate for a second term. Nearly everybody I talked to in Ohio declared that Governor Harmon will be re-elected, that Ohio would become more than ever a doubtful state and that the Republicans would lose several members of congress."

Concerning general political conditions, the writer observes: "I have traveled extensively recently, interviewing politicians of all shades. Everybody expects the next House of Representatives to be Democratic. Everybody expects the Democrats to make gains in the senatorial elections of 1911."

In conclusion, Mr. Welliver gives this as the Taft program: Taft for president, Crane for successor to Aldrich as leader of the senate, and John W. Weeks of Boston or Walter I. Smith of Iowa for successor to Speaker Cannon.

"Will the program succeed? At this writing Mr. Taft's machine is very near the scrap heap. Will he and his friends be able to patch it up or build a new one strong enough to secure control of the Republican presidential convention? Or will the people continue to flock to the insurgent banner and compel the Republican party to surrender to the progressive, or face battle with a new party?"

Mr. Welliver's article is a valuable contribution to current political history. It accurately depicts the situation, recites the causes leading up to it, and pictures what is scheduled to occur.

Well, let's get busy and fix up the sidewalks before sloppy weather arrives.

Serious differences are said to have arisen between the president and the colonel. No longer is it "Will" and "Theodore."

While Mr. Fitzgibbon was arguing on behalf of the gas company for increased rates, President Fulton interrupted him long enough to inquire whether the advanced rate would increase the flow of gas in cold weather.

When in doubt, mind your own business; don't make the same mistake more than once; fletcherize, practice deep breathing; work, laugh, love and make this world a better place because you are here.—Elbert Hubbard.

COMMUNICATED

When Candidate Harding said in his "keynote" speech at Kenton last Saturday that there are no stand-patters in the Republican party (or words to that effect), did he mean the same thing that your Uncle Mark Hanna meant when he declared some years ago that there were no trusts in the country?

Why didn't Mr. Harding have something to say about Cannon and Cannonism and Aldrich and Aldrichism? Also concerning Foraker and Forakerism?

When Mr. Harding stated that "the undeniable unrest of the passing day is largely due to a misunderstanding of the late tariff enactment" why didn't he explain the reason of this strange phenomenon?

In other words, why is it that the more clearly the people understand the provisions of this tariff and the manner of its enactment, the more their "misunderstanding" increases?

Why is this thence?

May we hope that Mr. Harding will explain this peculiar gumfustication of the public mind when he speaks at Newark and Granville on the coming fourth of October?

Can the Advocate find any terms to express the satisfaction which we all feel to learn that "every tariff in 160 years has been marred by this selfishness of greedy consumers, or designing importers"—the great trusts and corporations who dictate our tariffs, being in no wise responsible of course?

And can you find any terms to express the satisfaction which all "greedy consumers" who are groaning under the prices imposed on them by the trusts and corporations must feel when they are told that "higher prices are inseparable from prosperity and bear the proof of a people's capacity to buy?"

Can any one find a paragraph or a sentence in Mr. Harding's speech indicating that he himself appreciates or deprecates the ever-increasing and ever menacing power of the "predatory interests" that are striving by high tariffs and all other means in their power to control both our national government and our state governments, or that WARREN G. HARDING could be depended on to stand for the rights and interests of the people against these robbers and despoilers?

M. R. SCOTT.

DYSPEPSIA ON THE DECLINE

Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets Cure Forty-nine Cases Out of Fifty.

Why anyone in Newark should continue to suffer with indigestion when a box of Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure, is certainly a mystery. Erman & Son have been selling Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets for some time, and we know from actual experience right here in our own store just what Seaver's Famous Dyspepsia Tablets will do, and if you inquire of Erman & Son, the druggists, they will tell you they never knew a remedy to prove so decidedly beneficial in the treatment of indigestion, dyspepsia, palpitation, sleeplessness and other forms of stomach trouble.

It certainly ought to give you confidence when you know that every 50c. box of Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets contains 20 days' treatment, and at the end of that time if you are not decidedly benefited all you need to do is to go back to the dealer and get your money. Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold right on their own merits. They cure indigestion simply by toning up the stomach and digestive organs so that the food will assimilate and give strength to the system just as nature intended. Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets are such a good nerve tonic, too. Just try a box and see if it don't give you new energy, new ambition and new courage to carry out your plans and daily work. If it doesn't your money back.

"Maybe He Wants to Advertise"

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Dog That Advertised

DADDY, why can't doggies talk?" asked Evelyn as the children were waiting for papa to think of a bedtime story.

"Well, some doggies can, almost," he replied; "that is, they can make you understand just what they want. And that reminds me of a dog I once heard about. He was a collie named Bob and seemed to know everything that was going on. Now, Bob was very proud of his long nose, his blue eyes and his fine coat, but he was especially pleased with his beautiful tail. No dog in the county had such a tail, and Bob seemed to know it.

"One day, kiddles, Bob was careless in crossing the street, and an ice wagon ran over him. How it did hurt, and how he did howl with pain! They took him up and carried him home, and he was soon better, but his heart was broken when he found that his beautiful tail had been cut off by the wagon. For days and days he lay in a dark cellar and refused to be comforted, and even when he did come out again he was a most lonesome doggie.

"Bob was missing one day, and his master searched all around the town, and finally found him in a newspaper office. He was lying there on the floor, and every once in awhile he would bark and howl as if trying to tell them something, but no one could understand just what he meant. He would not come, and every day when the men came to work the dog would follow them and then another and bark and bark. Finally one of the men said: 'Why, I believe I know why Bob is acting this way. Maybe he wants to advertise in the newspaper for his lost tail. Is that what you mean, Bob?'

"Well, kiddles, it seemed as if that was exactly what the doggie did want, he jumped around in delight and licked their hands and was perfectly happy again, and when the man petted him and said he would fix it all right he immediately went home. And, just for fun, this advertisement was put on the paper:

LOST.—One long, beautiful, bushy collie's tail. Finder please return and get reward. No questions asked. BOB (this office).

"And did poor Bob get his tail back, daddy?" asked Evelyn.

"No, of course not, honey," laughed daddy. "Bob called at the newspaper every day just as if he knew about the advertisement, and he watched anybody who came in as if he was expecting they had his lost tail. After a week or so had passed, however, he evidently gave up hope of recovering it and named home, but he was a very savage doggie after that. He would chase and bite every dog with a long tail that came along and made friends only with those that had short tails like himself."

U. S. W. V. Attention. The remains of our late comrade, Mertis L. Wright, who died in Antwerp, Belgium, Aug. 25, will arrive Wednesday morning. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, and all comrades will meet at Memorial Hall at 9:30 a. m. All ex-Spanish War soldiers are invited. The comrades of the G. A. R., Union Veteran Legion and Woman's Relief Corps have also been invited. Every member of the camp should be promptly on hand. By order of Chas. F. Walton, Com. Cliff H. Rce-brough, Adj.

An Invitation. A good story is told of an elder in an English church who on one occasion had to take the pulpit in the absence of the minister at the last moment. He got through the first part of the service all right, but on getting up to give the sermon he found his difficulty then. He started with, "Brethren pause—b-b-brethren (pause)—b-b-brethren. If any of you wants the concert taken out of you come up here."

A Change. "We must economize," he said per-emptorily. "I'm so glad," his wife exclaimed. "You take the announcement more good naturedly than usual."

"Yes; it's pleasant to hear you use the plural pronoun. Ordinarily when there is any economizing needed you expect me to do it all."

USUALLY ONE DOSE RELIEVES INDIGESTION

There would not be a case of indigestion here if readers who are subject to Stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-ferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapiesin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the surest, acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul, nauseous odors from the breath.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on each 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin, then you will readily understand why this promptly cures indigestion and removes such symptoms as Heartburn, a feeling of fullness of the stomach, Belching of Gas and Bubbles, indigestion of undigested food, water brash, Nausea, Headache, Bilioousness and many other bad symptoms; and, besides, you will not need laxatives to keep your stomach, liver and intestines clean and fresh.

If your stomach is sour and full of gas, or your food doesn't digest, and your meals don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent case from your druggist and make life worth living? Absolute relief from Stomach misery and perfect digestion of all eating you eat is sure to follow five minutes after, and besides, one case is sufficient to cure a whole family of such trouble.

Surely, a harmless, inexpensive preparation like Diapiesin, which will always, either at daytime or during night, relieve your stomach misery and digest your meals, is about as handy and valuable a thing as you could have in the house.

A SEVERE CASE OF NEURALGIA CURED

The Treatment Which This Cleveland Woman Used with Such Success Is Available for Every Sufferer.

Many who are now tortured with neuralgia will read with interest the following statement of Mrs. W. L. Squire of No. 1854 East 19th Street, Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. Squire was cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and has since enjoyed excellent health. She says:

"I was taken with what the doctors called facial neuralgia, or neuralgia of the nerves of the face and suffered the most intense pain. I was very much troubled by overwork and worry but their treatment did not help me, nor even relieve the pain. Finally I was taken to the hospital and underwent an operation for the removal of the affected nerves. For a time after the operation I was better and then the old trouble returned with a vengeance. What I suffered cannot be told or written. My doctor advised me to submit to another operation but the thought of it was terrible to me. About this time I read an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them. The result was that after taking a few boxes I found myself greatly benefited, so much so that I decided to forego the operation for a time at least. I can say now that I find myself entirely cured and am in better health than I have enjoyed for the last fifteen or sixteen years. I am very grateful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for my recovery and have recommended them to many people. I am a living testimonial of the worth of the medicine."

The tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills succeeds where other treatments fail because it is based on the sound medical principle that the health of the nerves depends on pure, red blood. Every person who is interested in the home treatment of nervous disorders should send for the new edition of our booklet entitled, "Diseases of the Nervous System, Their Nature, Symptoms and Treatment." The booklet describes symptoms and gives much useful information. Address the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

NEW MANAGER FOR ORPHEUM TAKES CHARGE

Manager M. F. Bassett is now in charge of the Orpheum theatre for O. C. Murray, the lessee of the pretty Arcade play house and Manager Geo. Feenberg leaves this evening for his new duties at Marion, Ind.

Mr. Bassett is a theatrical man of much experience and Mr. Murray is to be congratulated on securing his services for this city. Mr. Bassett last season was in charge of the Marion vaudeville house and under his management it was converted from a money loser into a place where the "S. R. O." sign was a frequent occurrence.

The comfort of the patrons is a hobby with Mr. Bassett and it is a safe prediction that during his residence here the Orpheum will be conducted in the future as it has been in the past, a strictly refined and scrupulously clean place of amusement.

M. F. BASSETT
New Manager of the Arcade Orpheum Theatre, Who Succeeds George M. Feenberg

The new manager is well known in the vaudeville world. For nine years he has appeared behind the lights as a mimic and whistler, his work being in constant demand because of its merits and high class. Some time ago his voice failed to respond and he was compelled to leave the profession for a complete rest. Mr. Murray recognizing his thorough knowledge of the business secured him for the Marion house and after building up the patronage of that place transferred him to Newark to relieve Manager Feenberg. There is no doubt but that he will ingratiate himself with the theatre goers of this city.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.
Manager Bassett was all smiles after the box office receipts had been counted Monday night, for it was "first night" for him, having assumed charge of the Arcade playhouse Monday. Standing room only was the order for the first performance and the second was witnessed by a good audience also.

The bill was opened by Jerome and Jerome in a clever contortion act nicely staged. They are indeed top-notchers and accomplish many difficult feats.

"Shorty" Edwards, a great favorite with Newarkites, kept his hearers convulsed until he left the stage. This little comedian made a great hit and should surely be seen during his present engagement.

vents throughout their act for most of their jokes and witticisms have been relegated to the realms of "has been."

The Two Graces, Garner and Parker, are two pleasing bits of femininity with pleasing voices. They have several catchy songs and their act is nicely costumed.

The big act is G. Deodato, necromancer and magician. With a nice set for his act Deodato mystifies and charms his audience and leaves them wondering at his consummate skill. He has several new feats in the art of magic.

A good film of motion pictures completes this most excellent offering.

MUSIC HALL ALLEYS WILL OPEN SATURDAY FOR COMING SEASON

JUDSON HARMON OF OHIO

By SLOANE GORDON

Reprinted From Review of Reviews For September, 1910

WE'll. It's just like this," said Judson Harmon of Ohio, tossing his panama hat on a convenient lounge and seating himself on the edge of a big table that occupies the center of the long reception room adjoining the governor's office. "I'm not the mayor of this town. I'm governor of the state. If the local authorities can't cope with this situation the state authorities must. These soldiers about here do police duty. But if a riot starts we'll put it down, you bet."

Saying which, Judson Harmon, governor, strode into his private office and slammed the door. Then he sent for the mayor of Columbus—one Marshall—and told him to get busy, which the mayor did, though to little purpose, as it later developed. And it finally did become necessary for the state authorities and the state troops to take a hand. But that's another story.

It was to a news hungry horde of reporters that Governor Harmon made the statement given above. He had just landed in Columbus from his summer home in Michigan. There was a street car strike on in Columbus. The mayor and the sheriff had called out the troops. Four thousand of the state militia were camped about the town. It was costing the state thousands of dollars to maintain them there. And

THE HON. JUDSON HARMON, GOVERNOR OF OHIO.

[The portraits and other illustrations accompanying this article are all reproduced from photographs made during the past summer at Governor Harmon's summer home at Charlevoix, Mich.]

Judson Harmon was mad about it. The interference of troops in strike times is a condition usually fraught with delicate danger to those political ambitions. Politicians had schemed to get Harmon "into a hole." Did it bother him? Not a whit. He just went at the situation with characteristic directness. And that's the Harmon way—direct, forceful, unwavering. If he has work to do he does it. If he starts out to play he plays.

Harmon appeals to the Ohioans whether that Buckeye's political notions dovetail with the Harmon brand of politics or no, because Harmon is, to use the expression of a Holmes county farmer who was analyzing the merits and demerits of the state executive, "Jes so darn common."

Which homely estimate casts an intense and interesting side light on J. Harmon. He may not be feverishly interested in you, but he has a quiet, unobtrusive way of making you believe that he has been sitting up and waiting to greet you since the dawn of history—not an ostentatious palaver, understand, but just a natural friendly sort of way with him that you're bound to recognize and appreciate and swell up about.

Newspaper men are good judges of human nature. They have to be. No man is a hero to a seasoned reporter. All great men are merely ornamented clay. The reporter is trained to cynicism. He knows how most great men become great and what negligible atoms they would have remained if printer's ink hadn't been smeared over them in sufficient quantities to make them conspicuous. And so the fact that Governor Harmon is the idol of the Ohio press boys is worthy of record. They all like him. It may be that the particular paper which a reporter is employed by maintains a political policy that compels the Columbus representative to hang a criticism of Harmon on every available news book. That makes no difference. The him them. When he first went to Washington the reporters flocked about him, of course, to ascertain just what sort of person this newly discovered Ohio attorney who had been elevated to the cabinet might be. Mr. Harmon met them smilingly, looked them over with eyes a-twinkle and proceeded to answer their questions with a frankness and candor that were most refreshing.

"What am I going to do?" he remarked in response to interrogatories. "How the devil do I know? What would you do? I don't know any more about this job yet than a pig does of Sanskrit. But I'm going to try to find out about it and then do the best I can. I wish you boys would help me. You know more about the duties right now than I do."

Well, maybe that didn't make a hit with the correspondents. Here was a distinctly new type of public official—not one wrapped about by the mantle of his own importance, but just a natural human person who said exactly what any other official under like circumstances would say if he said what was in his mind. And he's still doing it.

But he carried out his promise to "try to find out" what his duties as attorney general were, and the records testify to his subsequent mastery of the position.

The manner in which he secured that position is worthy of note. Secretary Daniel Lamont sent him word in Cincinnati that President Cleveland would like to have a talk with him. Mr. Harmon went to Washington. He met Cleveland, and the talk followed. It developed that Mr. Cleveland was seeking some unbiased information about a number of Ohio applicants for office. Harmon candidly told him all he knew about each of the men whose names came up for discussion, sparing none, condemning none and commending none—just stating facts. President Cleveland thanked him, and every disappointed office seeker in Ohio blamed Jud Harmon for "knocking" him and preventing him from sacrificing his private interests for the public good.

A short while afterward President Cleveland and Mr. Harmon were both guests of James E. Campbell, then governor of Ohio. They became rather chummy on this occasion. After Mr. Harmon left Mr. Cleveland made the remark to Mrs. Campbell that he considered "that fellow Harmon" a mighty fine man.

It wasn't long after that that Judson Harmon, in opening his mail at the law office of Harmon, Colston, Goldsmith & Hoadly, in Cincinnati, found a brief letter, hand written, from President Cleveland inviting him to become a member of the cabinet with the attorney generalship as his particular job.

Mr. Harmon read it over carefully. He got up and paced back and forth in the office a few times. Then he called Mr. Colston and explained the situation to him.

"Now," he said, "I'm going out home and put it up to Mrs. Harmon. If she wants the job she can have it. That is, if she wants to go to Washington as the wife of a cabinet officer she may. If she elects to stay in Cincinnati here we stay."

And so it happens that Mrs. Harmon really settled the question and that it was her verdict that made Judson Harmon attorney general of the United States.

No more vigorous attorney general has ever filled that exalted position. When Mr. Harmon took hold he proceeded carefully, as he always does. There was nothing revolutionary about his methods. But during the period of his incumbency he took stands and carried through prosecutions and rendered decisions that have established worldwide precedents. And he did it all in that easy, natural way that makes every move that he has ever made, before and since his cabinet experiences.

For prior to his service as attorney general Mr. Harmon held other public positions. He was superior court judge in Cincinnati and was succeeded in that position (which he resigned) by William H. Taft, now president. Later he became a district judge, and, strangely enough, Mr. Taft followed him in that position. Then Mr. Taft became solicitor general of the United States. Harmon followed him to Washington as a cabinet member.

"I don't know whether Bill Taft is following me or I'm following him," he laughingly remarked one day, "but we seem to be moving along in the same general direction. I wonder if he won't follow me into the cabinet." Sure enough, Mr. Taft did follow him into the cabinet by becoming secretary of war under Mr. Roosevelt. And those who believe in the Harmon brand of destiny are insistently confident that Jud is to follow Mr. Taft still further. However—

Out in Ohio they still call him "Judge." Nine out of every ten men, referring now to the man who has been attorney general and governor since he sat on the bench, speak of "Judge Harmon." And yet he doesn't look particularly judicial. To look conventionally judicial one must be as solemn as a tree of owls. Governor Harmon doesn't come up to specifications in this regard. He has big gray eyes that are set wide apart, and little laugh made wrinkles radiate from them in all directions. There is always the suggestion of a smile under the lashes. Over these eyes are great bushy brows that really need trimming. There is plenty of hair left on the outskirts of the massive Harmon head, but up on top it isn't congested to speak of. There are strands of gray—many of them—but there is also much that seems to retain the color of youthful days. His nose is plentiful and arched a bit, and under it there bristles forth a gray mustache that looks like the business side of a wire brush. A mouth that is wide and straight, teeth that are white and even and ears that are neither modest nor retreating complete the facial picture—that is, except the chin. It is built like a stone abutment. The Harmon body is long and lank and loosely knit—a sort of Abe Lincoln body, with long legs and long arms attached at regular places and a way of doubling himself up in a chair that makes you wonder if it will come out without kinking. But it does come out all right, and when the Harmon mentality directs its activities that body can do athletic wonders.

Mr. Harmon is sixty-three years old.

Every summer Mr. Harmon goes to Michigan for his vacation and fishes and fishes and fishes. He can go out in the gray of dawn and sit in a boat all day and come in at night with a new crop of tan and a hard luck story and enjoy it apparently just as much as though he had made a record catch of the season. In his fishing excursions he dresses for the part. He puts on a loose flannel shirt and a soft hat and wears a short stemmed pipe that works much more constantly than the reel. On many of his fishing excursions Mr. Harmon is accompanied by his little granddaughter, who takes almost as keen an interest in the sport as does her distinguished "granddad," as she calls him. One day last summer the youngster landed a three pound bass, while granddad had to be content with two lake perch that wouldn't weigh a pound put together.

THE GOVERNOR'S FAVORITE RECREATION.

We are all acquainted with this fact: that Judson Harmon is a man who is five at the most. He is just as vigorous as a man of many years under fifty-five and as fond of sports and of the out of doors as a schoolboy.

For many years he was one of the amateur baseball players in Cincinnati.

A VACATION SNAPSHOT.

He was the pitcher in a nine composed of business men who met every Saturday afternoon in the suburbs of the Queen City to try diamond conclusions with teams from other localities. Judson Harmon never missed a game while he was in town. He would go to the ball field, shed his coat and collar and with rolled sleeves wade in and pitch nine straight innings with all the vigor of a Cy Young. In fact, he still loves to get out with his old baseball friends and pitch a bit, even though prudes may maintain that this is not a dignified thing for the governor of a great state to do. Harmon cares about as much for what the prudes think about him as he does about the morals of Mars.

Every summer Mr. Harmon goes to Michigan for his vacation and fishes and fishes and fishes. He can go out in the gray of dawn and sit in a boat all day and come in at night with a new crop of tan and a hard luck story and enjoy it apparently just as much as though he had made a record catch of the season. In his fishing excursions he dresses for the part. He puts on a loose flannel shirt and a soft hat and wears a short stemmed pipe that works much more constantly than the reel. On many of his fishing excursions Mr. Harmon is accompanied by his little granddaughter, who takes almost as keen an interest in the sport as does her distinguished "granddad," as she calls him. One day last summer the youngster landed a three pound bass, while granddad had to be content with two lake perch that wouldn't weigh a pound put together.

Mr. Harmon is sixty-three years old.

But ordinarily Mr. Harmon is a successful fisherman. He has studied fish and knows all about the technique of the game. If you give him the change he will talk fish to you for three consecutive hours, telling you all about the habits and habitats of the fresh water and salt water tribes and when and how and where to catch them.

But there are other sides to Judson Harmon. I've dwelt upon the personal side because that is the most interesting side of any public man. You and I would rather know what sort of socks and hats a man wears than to have his ideas of the fourth dimension thrust upon us. But maybe, in conclusion at least, we would like to know something about the views and ideals of a man so pregnant of potential political possibilities as Judson Harmon, wherefore they may be given.

Judson Harmon is not a radical in the modern acceptance of that term. Neither, it should be noted, is he a reactionary.

But he has his fixed and unalterable views on broad public matters—views that he airs whenever called upon, views that he insists on presenting without regard to platforms, parties or expediency. He is a peevish advocate of tariff reform and has been such for many years. He believes the present protective tariff to be not only unfair, but dishonest. And he has made many notable speeches along this line. On Oct. 16, 1909, at the Texas state fair, held in Dallas, Mr. Harmon delivered an address in which he discussed the Payne-Aldrich tariff law at length, dwelling upon the unhealthy growth of combinations and trusts and stating, among other things, the following:

It is time to close up the public nursery now that the industries it has fed so long are grown, many of them overgrown, and have married and been given in marriage, too.

The people want protection themselves now from these giants which keep them walled in at home at their mercy and go across the ocean to meet foreign competition on its own ground.

They know that we have to keep on raising most of our revenue by taxes on imports. They wish these laid so as fairly to divide the burden among all classes and parts of the country. They believe that these taxes, with the cost and risk of long carriage which all competitors must bear, will afford the only advantage American manufacturers can now justify have. But they insist that tariff taxes shall be measured by the proper requirements of the government and not by the demands of makers after private advantage. The amount of public revenue needed can always be readily known, but the wit of man cannot estimate what these private demands ought to be, no matter what basis be assumed for them. "A reasonable profit" would be as hard to determine as a "reasonable restraint of trade," which the president rightly says is impossible. And, if it could be figured out, nobody has ever explained why the government should guarantee a reasonable profit to some citizens, while it leaves all the others to take their chances.

On the subject of state rights Mr. Harmon is equally vehement. In an address at the Jefferson banquet of the National Democratic club in New York in 1909 he set forth his ideas on this matter. Said he:

The people of every state profit constantly by the experience of the others and often adapt their laws and devices to secure better government, but it would not be wholesome to allow the men of other states, near or distant, to have a voice in the affairs of any state but their own. The individuality of the states is what makes them great and strong and the Union great and strong through them. Weak states would soon make the Union feeble, or it would become a government wholly different from its design.

He believes in an income tax. He believes in the strict enforcement of the anti-trust laws.

And yet the man who gives voice to these views is pictured by those who oppose him as a corporation lawyer—representative pup.

It is true that he has been a corporation attorney. In the practice of the law, aside from his public career entirely, Judson Harmon has been eminently successful. He has won famous cases. He has been conspicuously for or against this corporation or that. But here is something that should be noted about him.

He has never in his entire career as an attorney for and against corporations been engaged for a corporation against the public. He wouldn't accept such employment. His enemies may scoff at this if they will, but his record proves it. He has always been perfectly, plainly and unmistakably sincere in that regard.

In an address which he delivered at the opening of the law school of the University of Cincinnati on Sept. 28, 1908, Mr. Harmon had this to say to the students:

There is no one who suggests that morals govern the courts only while you have to do with legal rights alone. It is true that one may do a moral wrong by enforcing a legal right, and in such cases the lawyer does not necessarily share the blame. And there is no substance in the charge that lawyers must become lawless because they sometimes uphold the side of a case that proves to be the wrong one. . . . I have no patience with those who affect to despise wealth. Honorably gained it should be a joy to any one. But huge corporations and powerful industrial and commercial combinations in various forms have brought on a conflict with the sentiment of the people who, true to the instincts of the race, would not do for less important clients, see a grave menace to our welfare and perhaps to our institutions and are seeking various remedies by law. . . . I do not mean that lawyers should refuse to represent such (corporation) clients. It is their obligation to render proper service to any who ask it, and a lawyer of high rank rarely fails to number some of these among his clients. But he must be careful to do nothing for them that he would not do for less important clients. He must not forget that they, unlike his ordinary clients, have or may have interests which conflict with those of the public and that his first duty is to the public, not only because he is a citizen, but because from it he has received his commission as an officer of justice.

As governor of Ohio Mr. Harmon has made a most remarkable record. He has upset all precedents by valiantly ignoring the machine politicians, as a result of which a number of them in his own party grow apoplectic whenever his name is mentioned. But for every machine vote so alienated Mr. Harmon has gathered unto himself scores of supporters among the business men of all parties—men who believe that he has given Ohio a business administration. Mr. Harmon did not seek the governorship. He was drafted. And when he agreed to run, after being waited upon by numerous anxious committees of politicians, he did so with the understanding that if elected he would run the gubernatorial office on a business and not on a political basis. The politicians had heard this sort of talk before, and they winked knowingly at one another and perfunctorily applauded. But they had reckoned faultily. When Mr. Harmon came in he started after the grafters and the lobbyists; recommended a number of investigations that resulted in putting one former state official in the penitentiary and in recovering vast sums of money illegally taken as interest on public funds by former state treasurers.

Mr. Harmon is a business man of remarkable ability. This is attested by his handling of several great railroad properties. As receiver for the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern back in the nineties he made his first great record, bringing order out of chaos and restoring to the stockholders a rehabilitated property. A few years ago he was appointed receiver of the Grand Central system, which included the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton and the Pere Marquette railroads. This system was in such a tangle that the properties looked like "a net loss with no insurance" as one of the expert accountants remarked at the time. Receiver Harmon in a little over two years paid every creditor in full and then turned over to the stockholders a property the stock of which was worth par.

Mr. Harmon has been severely criticized by those who carp for having retained this receivership for eight months after he became governor. The fact is that he sent in his resignation before being inaugurated, but Judge Lorton, then on the federal circuit bench, declined to accept it on the ground that there were many matters pending that no other person could so well adjust as Mr. Harmon.

Governor Harmon was born at Newtown, Hamilton county (Cincinnati), O. His father was a schoolteacher who subsequently became a Baptist minister. There is a little church in Newtown still standing that was built through the activities of the elder Harmon. The governor has three daughters and is splendidly devoted to them and to his charming and accomplished wife.

It is more than probable that Mr. Harmon will be re-elected governor this fall. In that event his nomination for the higher office is practically certain. But even should he lose Ohio, assuming that he makes a creditable showing, he will still be a formidable presidential probability. And when he reaches the White House, if he ever does, he will at times sit on the edge of the big table that occupies the center of the cabinet room and swing his feet and talk straight out from the shoulder. That's his war.

CITY WILL ISSUE BONDS FOR $40,610

Amount Necessary to Meet Special Improvement Assessments, Meeting of Council Last Night.

At Monday night's session of the city council ordinances were passed authorizing the issuing of bonds aggregating $40,610 in anticipation of the collection of the special assessments for various improvements made by the city during the past year. As each ordinance was taken up it was rushed through on its second and third reading and final passage.

A Council Caucus.

The council held a caucus preceding the meeting and when President Fulton called the members to order all the councilmen were present. A petition was read asking that a gas regulator at the corner of Ninth St. and Western avenue be removed, and a committee composed of Messrs. Elsner, Vogelmeier, Irwin and Orr reported that they favored the removal of the obstruction which they say is dangerous to drivers of vehicles and also to pedestrians. Ten days will be allowed the company to make the change to a less dangerous spot.

Favor Mausoleum.

The law committee, composed of City Solicitor Bolton and Councilmen Irwin and Prior, investigated the proposed mausoleum for Cedar Hill cemetery, reported favorably in the matter and recommended the erection of the one planned. Their report was received.

Wants Storehouse.

A communication was read from Service Director Christian, saying that the city was renting a barn for $5 a month for the use of the street repair and water works department, and he recommended the purchase of a structure that can be used for this purpose, claiming that the city would save money. The barn now in use is located in South Fifth street, near the city hay scales. The matter was referred to the public service committee. Mr. Christian said that the city needs a storehouse for the use of this department, but he thinks that the present rental is excessive.

Want Streets Improved.

A communication from the South Side Citizens' Association was read, in which the attention of council was directed to Sorocco street and Daniel avenue in West Newark. The citizens of those streets want them filled and a grade given for a sidewalk and intersections, 14 in number. The communication further said that in winter these streets were in horrible condition and that they should be improved. Many nice homes have been built and about 400 people live in them, but on account of the lack of sidewalks the postoffice department will not deliver mail. The residents say that if the street is graded and filled and a grade given for sidewalks, they will see that walks are immediately constructed. Council appreciated the fact that this improvement is needed, for Mr. Orr introduced a resolution directing the service director to take action. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

To Apply Interest.

An ordinance was introduced by Mr. Elsner authorizing the use of $4018.50, interest earned by the water works fund, for the furtherance of the municipal water works system. The ordinance was given its second and third reading and it was passed.

Bond Ordinances.

The bond ordinances were next taken up and passed after having been read three times.

Ordinance by Mr. Orr to issue bonds in the sum of $6,550 for the North Williams street paving and curbing. Six bonds of $1000 each will be issued, and one at $500. The first becomes due Jan. 1, 1916, the last Jan. 1, 1919.

Ordinance by Mr. Orr to issue bonds in the sum of $1850 for the Eighth street paving and curbing from Main to Church streets. Three bonds at $500 and one at $250 will be issued. The first bond becomes payable Jan. 1, 1916, the last Jan. 1, 1919.

Ordinance by Mr. Vogelmeier to issue bonds in the sum of $6550 for the South Fourth street paving and curbing from the Ohio Canal to Pataaskala street. Six bonds at $1000 and one at $500 will be issued. The first bond becomes due Jan. 1, 1916, the last Jan. 1, 1919.

Ordinance by Mr. Elsner to issue bonds in the sum of $15,550 for the North Fourth street paving and curbing from North to Charles street. Fifteen bonds at $1000 and one at $500 will be issued. The first four bonds become due Jan. 1, 1916, the last four Jan. 1, 1919.

Ordinance by Mr. Elsner to issue bonds in the sum of $1750 for the Hudson avenue sanitary tile and drainage sewer. Two bonds of $500 and one of $750 will be issued. The first becomes due Jan. 1, 1912, the last Jan. 1, 1915.

Ordinance by Mr. Elsner to issue bonds in the sum of $1470 for the Mount street tile sanitary and drainage sewer between Fourth St. and Woods avenue. Two bonds at $500 and one at $470 will be issued. The first becomes due Jan. 1, 1912, the last Jan. 1, 1914.

Ordinance by Mr. Elsner to issue bonds in the sum of $4225 for the Hudson avenue paving and curbing. Seven bonds at $500 and one at $725 will be issued. The first becomes due Jan. 1, 1916, the last Jan. 1, 1919.

Ordinance by Mr. Irwin to issue bonds in the sum of $2950 for the Buena Vista street paving from Main to Indiana streets. Three bonds of $1000 and one of $950 will be issued. The first becomes due Jan. 1 1916, the last Jan. 1, 1919.

Mausoleum Ordinance.
The ordinance by Mr. Stare granting the American Mausoleum Company the right to erect a mausoleum at Cedar Hill cemetery was given its second reading.

To Settle Suit.
A resolution was then introduced by Mr. Elsner to settle the suit brought by J. W. Plum against the city for $150, and it was adopted.

Printing Ordinance.
The ordinance by Mr. Prior providing for the publication of ordinances, resolutions, notices, proclamations and other legal notices was given its third reading and passed.

Linden Ave. Improvement.
A resolution which was introduced by Mr. Orr to construct a stone curb and gutter on Linden avenue from West Main street to a certain lot was adopted.

Spoke of Mausoleum.
Mr. J. V. Hilliard was then invited to speak to the council on the proposed mausoleum and he told of the favorable impression given by the mausoleums in other cities.

The one planned for Newark will contain 408 crypts and will cost $25,000 to build. In speaking of the plan the speaker said the dry air that passed under the building dries or mummifies the bodies placed in the structure. Pans of chloride of calcium placed under the building pass up flues to the various crypts and then out the top of the building through another flue. He said the chemical was inexpensive, but that he would ascertain the exact cost and report at the next session of council.

Invites Conference.
Attorney J. R. Fitzgibbon, representing the Newark Natural Gas Co. then spoke to council and asked that council investigate the proposed rate of the company. He said that natural gas conditions were not as they once were, and that the gas now consumed in Newark does not come from the Licking or Knox county fields, but is piped from a distance.

He said that Newark has been favored with a good gas supply, but that the fields were almost exhausted and that the gas would have to be brought from a distant point and that he wished council, either as a whole or as a committee, would meet with the gas company and go over the proposition. Mr. Krick, representing the company, said that they would be glad to answer any questions asked and to give full details when desired.

While Attorney Fitzgibbon was addressing the council on the proposed increased rate, President Fulton interrupted him long enough to remark: "Will the increased rate increase the flow of gas?"

Up to date no councilman has been found who will introduce the gas franchise and President Fulton will not permit its introduction unless it is fathered by some councilman.

Sewer Troubles.
J. A. Flory and Mr. Baggs spoke of sewer troubles on Ninth street and asked relief, claiming that the grading of Ninth and Eleventh streets sent large quantities of water into Tenth street, flooding cellars and cesspools. Mr. Stare said that money had been appropriated for the placing of a sewer on this street but that it was used for a Pine street improvement. Mr. Prior made a motion that the matter be referred to the street committee and this was done.

The Taylor Charges.
Mr. Elsner, chairman of the committee appointed to investigate the charges against former Service Director M. M. Taylor asked further time, and this was granted them.

OPENING OF COMPLETED P. M. STORE

Many Changes Made and Big Improvements Brought About in Big Store.

Today marked the opening of the completed Powers-Miller Company's store, an event which is being celebrated by an "At Home" to all Newark during the afternoon and evening. The people are invited to attend the formal opening of the new millinery department and the autumn fashion show of beautiful costumes, suits, wraps and furs. The evening's reception is from 7 to 9 o'clock.

In a physical sense the big store has undergone a transformation. Things have been torn down in order to build up. Floors and 3, formerly devoted to furniture, have been equipped for carpets, rugs and draperies, the third floor has been given over in its entirety to cloaks, suits, dresses and furs, while the space formerly occupied by the cloak and suit department has been elegantly equipped with handsome mahogany fixtures for the new millinery department.

The rear of the second floor, formerly used for the company's offices, has been given over to rest rooms, retiring room and clerks' wardrobe.

A magnificent balcony has been built in the rear of the main floor, where now the general offices are located.

The business has grown so extensively that the one elevator for passenger service was found inadequate and the large elevator in the rear of the store, formerly used for freight exclusively, has been equipped for passenger service, to be used during the busy hours of the day.

A year ago the P.-M. Company employed 43 salespeople. At present the store has 108 employees which makes it plain that the business has more than doubled during the past year. The company attributes its phenomenal growth principally to the change in policy. Ever since the organization the store had carried only the higher priced merchandise, and in that way became a "class" store. A year ago the policy was changed, not eliminating the better sorts of merchandise, but adding to the stocks immense quantities of the everyday staple merchandise of dependable quality and at such fair prices that it at once became a store not only for the millionaire, but for the millions. The enormous growth of the business has made it possible to buy in large quantities and also resulted in an invitation to join one of the large buying syndicates, through which many of the unusual bargains offered were obtained.

The Stevens orchestra has been engaged to furnish music for this afternoon and tonight. Instead of giving souvenirs to visitors, Mr. Link introduced a pleasing feature by having numerous cut glass bowls throughout the store this afternoon, each being filled with chocolates and bonbons for the pleasure of the guests.

ATTENTION SQUIRREL HUNTERS

There will be a meeting of the survivors of the Licking County Squirrel Hunters on Wednesday afternoon, October 5, at 2 o'clock at the office of Dr. C. P. King, No. 33 1/2 West Main street. A full attendance is desired, as important business is to be transacted.
